I am a newcomer to the world of photography. I have been actively engaged in learning about photography and improving my skills and confidence for about 18 months. I have a masters degree in Nursing and retired after 40 years of working in various health care roles throughout the country. I have always been a bit creative and wanted to expand on that after retirement.

Growing up on a farm in Minnesota, I often dreamt of traveling the world. Luckily, I've been able to do a bit of that. The addition of photography has enhanced my enjoyment of traveling and added a new dimension to "seeing the world".

I enjoy photographing street scenes, art & architecture, flowers or nature and taking a macro look at the details of this wonderful world. I love to cook and bake, so food photography is kind of a natural.

At this time, I do not have a photography business although it is something I am considering. I'm still working on that "gaining confidence" part!
